No Flag but the Old Flag—the Red, White and Blue,
With the Stars of a Union unbroken and free:
Arise and defend it, ye sons of the brave,
Whose blood bought the banner your valor must save.

TUESDAY MORNING, JANUARY 10, 1865.

News of To-Day.

Sherman appears to be commencing operations tending to the reduction of Charleston, which the advices from that place seem to anticipate.

The rumored peace propositions from Georgia are very important, if true, but are very likely only a rumor and unfounded.

North Carolina is seriously debating about peace, and the old North State seems fast tending towards the Union again.

Bragg is filled with Christian hope, and desires the prayers of all good men for himself and army, which is the most favorable news from him in a long time past.

The other news is not of great general importance.

Views of an "Alabama" Unionist.

The Hon. Jeremiah Clemens, late Senator from Alabama, has written a letter, under date of Oct., from Philadelphia, to a friend at Huntsville, Ala., in which he invites the return of his State to the Union, under separate State action. He takes anti-Copperhead ground in his view of rebellion and secession, and says:

"For attempting to preserve, unimpaired, the Union our fathers made, Mr. Lincoln was, and still is, denounced as a tyrant, the Federal Congress as a band of ferocious miscreants, General Grant as a butcher, General Sherman as a merciless ruffian, Gen. Butler as a beast, and, lastly, the people of the North were proclaimed incapable of self-government—miserable tools of the 'basest and most degraded despotism,' who had 'profoundly disgraced themselves' by an 'ignoble love of gold and brutifying fanaticism.' These, and many other, mild and gentlemanly epithets, were applied to all who dared to doubt the right of a single State to destroy the liberty and happiness of the whole. But all that is changed when the principle of secession comes to be applied to Jeff. Davis' dominions. The people of North Carolina are now told that they shall not even consider the question of restoring the Union; and their Governor is warned that if he does not repress the expression of every wish for a return of more peaceful times, his State will be desolated with fire and sword. Good God! how blind must that infatuation be which bows the neck of an unquestionably brave and gallant people beneath a yoke so galling—a despotism so pitiless as this."

Referring to the hope held out to the South in McClellan's election, he says:

"The election of McClellan, if that were possible, would only prolong the war, and make the desolation of your land more complete. He might suspend military operations for a time, and negotiate for a peace, but the only terms Jefferson Davis will ever offer him will be such as he dare not accept. Mr. Davis has no idea of abdicating his sovereignty; and if McClellan were so mad as to accede to his demands, his own residence would soon be a less comfortable one than the White House at Washington. From this source, therefore, you have nothing to expect but still greater eventual destitution and protracted misery—evils, it is true, which will to a peace is before you. You need not consult Mr. Davis, or Mr. Lincoln, or Mr. McClellan on the subject. You went out by separate State action; you can come back in the same way. In the Southern Confederacy, at least, there ought to be no denial of your right to do so. It was the doctrine the leaders inculcated when they wished you to please them by going out of the Union, and they cannot object to it when you wish to please yourselves by going in. This is your remedy—a remedy independent of the will or wishes of those who are compromised too deeply to expect ready forgiveness, and who wish to make you the sharers of their own destiny, provided always that destiny is calamitous."

We alluded to Mr. Clemens not long since as having resisted the spirit of disunion in Alabama to the last, until overwhelmed by the despotism that finally compelled the champions of the Union cause to cease their opposition to the rebellion. At last when the progress of the war has brought upon the South the ruin he predicted, and the advance of Union armies has once more extended the protection of the American flag over Northern Alabama, he again is heard advocating Union and condemning the tyranny of Jeff. Davis. Such men as Jerry Clemens, John Minor Botts, Andrew Johnson, Gov. Hahn, Parson Brownlow, and the Rev. Dr. Breckinridge, and Unionists who like them have renounced slavery and become champions of freedom, stand forth in striking contrast to those Northern Copperheads, whose devotion to Southern institutions outlives treason and rebellion, and induces them to clamor in support of slavery even while it is dying out, killed by the poison of its own efforts to destroy the nation.

Mr. Clemens expresses himself clearly upon the election of McClellan and so forcibly, that coming as it does from a distinguished Southerner and slave-holder, we trust his words will have some weight with Northern men, who have allowed themselves to advocate a peace that would have for its object the restoration of the Union with the old poisonous leaven of Slavery still left guarded and protected to work its evil in the future.

Kentucky, our dispatches tell us, is advocating emancipation. No doubt it will be speedily effected. And we commend the extract from the Louisville Journal in this issue to the careful consideration of all, especially to those who were a few weeks since engaged with the Journal in bitter opposition to the re-election of Mr. Lincoln. These words of eminent Southern men have peculiar significance and force, at this time, upon the question of slavery, and contain both a lesson and a rebuke to Northern men who incidentally if not intentionally are aiding the rebellion and abetting treason.

The Walla Walla Statesman says that David Helm, better known in this country as "Old Tex," was found dead on the road between Walla Walla and his home, on Dry Creek, on Tuesday morning last. He had left the city the night before, in a state of intoxication, and from indications, when found it appeared that his horse had fallen down with and upon him, crushing his breast and breaking his neck.

Mr. F. J. Ryan was assaulted in the streets of Walla Walla by some person unknown, but got the better of his assailant, and commenced letting him have the contents of his revolver, when the other left in a hurry.

The weather at Walla Walla is very mild for the season, rain falling there, while in the mountains it seemed to have been snowing.

The Columbia river is said to be open to Wallula.

The Albany Journal says that the streets of that place are so filled with teams at times, that to see them would remind the editor of the Corvallis Gazette of the long army trains he so eloquently describes.

The debt of Nevada is $261,000, exclusive of the expenses of the Constitutional Convention.

Some men get through the world on the same principle that a chimney sweep passes uninterrupted through a crowd.

Rose Greenhow, the notorious rebel spy, is dead. The Richmond papers say she was "distinguished." We think she was extinguished.

If a party that wants to put down this rebellion can't put it down, how soon will a party put down that don't want to put it down?

The Reese River Reveille reports that there is great excitement in the Telegraph district, on the discovery of wonderfully rich silver leads.

The decision of the San Francisco Police Court convicting Hilton of publishing an obscene paper, the Mariposa, was sustained in the County Court.

Lieut. Pushing, of the Monticello who blew up the Albemarle, is a heardless youth 1 ot 22 years old. He is a native of Fredoni, Chautauque county, New York.

It is a curious fact that Mr. Lincoln is the first citizen of the North upon whom the honor of a re-election to the Presidential office has ever been conferred.

Archbishop Alemany was invited to attend the Sanitary meeting at San Francisco on the 17th. He was unable to attend but sent his check for $300.

The Postal Money System about to be introduced in this country has been in operation in England for many years with marvelous and increasing success.

The Chinese rebellion is at an end. The rebel Emperor committed suicide by swallowing gold leaf, and the troops of the lawful Emperor captured Nankin in July.

Andrew Johnson, Vice-President elect of the United States, as pure a patriot and as brave a man as ever dared battle for the right, is now shouldering his musket in defense of Nashville.

It is estimated that in the New and in the Old World there are 8,258 Masonic Lodges with 500,000 active members. The number of non-active and those who have withdrawn is nearly 3,000,000.

No important invention ever spread so rapidly as the sewing machine. It was first patented by Elias Howe in 1846, and now nearly one hundred thousand are annually manufactured in the United States alone.

The Highlands and islands of Scotland are now within twenty-four hours' distance of London, and there is every prospect that before the close of another year there will be an iron road from Land's End to John O'Groat's.

The total vote of the City of New York at the Presidential election was 110,461, and yet several thousands of votes were said to have been excluded for want of time. The total vote of Philadelphia, including the soldiers' vote was 96,370.

A Washington correspondent says that McClellan will probably be elected United States Senator from New Jersey to succeed Ten Eyck, and suggests that in view of his gunboat experience he be made Chairman of the Senate Naval Committee.

The ladies are now adopting a new fashion for buttons. Buttons on dresses have lately increased by degrees from the size of a pea to the dimensions of a four-pound dumb-bell and the area of a soup plate; now they are to be square. Yes, square. Next month they will be triangular, and in the spring they will exhibit the shape of a rhomboid.

THE LOUISVILLE JOURNAL GIVES UP SLAVERY. The following is taken from the Louisville Journal of November 12:

As far as we are concerned, we have, from the inception of the rebellion, thought, and fifty times said, more than three years ago, that secession would result in the extermination of Southern Slaves, while at the same time we have endeavored to give some idea of the deplorable and awful results of such a state of things. We have never doubted that if the anti-slavery constitution of Kentucky, so powerfully advocated by Lenry Clay, many years ago, had been adopted, our State would now be more prosperous, wealthy and happy than it is. But Mr. Clay was defeated and a slavery constitution adopted. Slavery exists in Kentucky by her constitution and her laws, and the progress of our armies, whether for good or for evil, has done far more against the institution than any Presidential proclamation can possibly do.

The States in rebellion knew that they endangered their property of all kinds by revolt; but Kentucky is loyal and ought not to be treated as if she were not fit to be trusted. We believe that many of her people have favored emancipation for years; but when our new constitution was adopted the mode of future amendment was so restricted that, were the people to desire a convention now, it could not be constitutionally called until the year 1870. The Legislature of 1865 might submit a proposition to the people to be acted upon at the general election in 1866, which, if assented to, must be referred again by the Legislature of 1867 to the people in 1868, and if again assented to, the Legislature of 1869 can call the convention. This is the great difficulty in the way of a direct answer to the question of our correspondent. It is contended by some that a law of Congress may call State conventions for amendments, which can treat the constitution as equivalent to a treaty, and it has been decided (Taylor vs. Morton, 2 Curt. C. C. 454) that Congress may repeal a treaty so far as it is a municipal law, provided its matter be within the legislative power. The whole question is certainly environed with difficulties. The swords of Sherman and Grant may solve them as the sword of Alexander severed the knot which tied the yoke to the draft tree of the chariot of the Phrygian King Gordius.

A TERRIBLE TRAGEDY AT LA GRANDE.—Passengers by the Wilson G. Hunt last evening give us the particulars of a terrible tragedy. As the facts were received by them from persons who came to Umatilla in the stage from Boise, Jack Tobin, or Boston Jack, a desperate character who was with G. H. Porter when he escaped from jail in Walla Walla, commenced a row at the house of two brothers named Hays, who kept public house at or near La Grande, in Grand Ronde Valley. Several persons of his class wanted more liquor than the landlords were willing to furnish, and the result was a fight with pistols, in which the two brothers, Hays, engaged this Jack, or Tobin, and a driver on the Ish stage line named Loos. Tobin was shot through the back of the head and fell, after his fall shooting the others named, or at least the Hays brothers, firing his six barrels off and cursing his pistol because it contained no more charges. Loos and Tobin were killed upon the spot, and the Hays brothers are probably dead, as they both were considered mortally wounded, though alive the next morning. This story may be modified on receiving correct particulars; but there seems no doubt that such a horrible tragedy has really transpired.

ARRIVAL OF A NOTORIOUS REBEL PRISONER—ROGER A. PRYOR IN LIMBO.—Ex-Brigadier General Roger A. Pryor, whose capture was announced a few days ago, arrived in this city yesterday morning, and was immediately consigned to prison quarters in Fort Lafayette. Before proceeding to the fort, the prisoner breakfasted at one of our hotels, in company with his custodians, but was not recognized by any one of the numerous guests who sat at table with him, nor was he suspected of being a prisoner, so jolly did he carry himself in the presence of the company. Afterward, however, as he proceeded toward his future prison, he became quite sober and reserved in his deportment, and it is said that when the party came within sight of the fort, and the custodian of the prisoner pointed out to him the gloomy walls of that castle on the sea, a violent shudder passed through his frame, and he appeared thereafter to be quite chap-fallen.

It will be recollected that Pryor was captured while he was endeavoring to exchange newspapers with our pickets. He says he did not know that he was in any danger until he saw five or six Yankee muskets pointed at his head, and boasts in the true spirit of a genuine fire-eater, that even then he made an effort to draw his pistol in order to slay the possessors of the said muskets. But, in reflection, he concluded to surrender himself.—N. Y. Com. Bulletin.

The ladies of Salem are making a thorough canvass of that liberal-minded place, to raise funds for the Christian Commission, and we hear they have succeeded in securing liberal contributions.

DATES TO JANUARY 9.

Raid by Geary on from Memphis.

Memphis, Jan. 7.—Two trains loaded with [illegible] Germantown to-day, [illegible] here last night. Only half the [illegible] the 27th ult. [illegible] twenty-nine bales [illegible] thousand [illegible] camp of [illegible] and six officers [illegible] to be [illegible] if possible.

From Rebel Papers.

The Wilmington Journal of the 31st says: Fort Fisher is [illegible] by one of her own guns. The Yankees [illegible] made a raid on the Mobile and Ohio Railroad. [illegible] They were [illegible].

The Raleigh Confederate of the 31st says: [illegible] fair in which [illegible] the [illegible] being [illegible] The [illegible] peaceful [illegible] city and [illegible].

The Mobile Tribune says that on the 26th, a party of Yankee raiders, numbering [illegible] reached West Point, Georgia, [illegible] ties. They [illegible] another [illegible] with an [illegible] option at Mobile.

From Richmond Papers.

The Richmond Enquirer says: [illegible] of certain agents in the North [illegible] to take California [illegible] while at Richmond Beef was before that city.

The Richmond Whig of the 5th says that Longstreet's [illegible] numbers 24,000 men, [illegible] are rotting over the [illegible] committing depredations on the [illegible].

The Richmond Dispatch says that Sherman left Milledgeville he has [illegible] policy. In that town and at Atlanta he was [illegible] and brutality; at Savannah, he has been all conciliation. The Dispatch forgets that Sherman announced that his conduct would be governed by the treatment he received.

The Richmond Examiner reports a skirmish on the Spring Hill road, near Dalton, in which the rebels captured 50 Yankees, killing and wounding 40 or 50 others. No loss on the rebel side.

The Richmond papers of the 6th report a violent tornado passed over Middle Alabama on the 27th, killing 3 persons, demolishing a large number of houses, and destroying the Railroad bridge of Montgomery on the West Point Railroad, 20 miles east of Montgomery.

From South Carolina.

By the Columbia Carolinian it appears that a number of Union prisoners, who had agreed to join the rebel army to escape the rebel prisons, had been discovered in a plot to escape to Sherman's lines. Several were shot and the remainder sent to prison.

New York, Jan. 8.—The new Gov. Magrath of South Carolina, has issued a proclamation calling in all the rifle whited [illegible] 10 and 50 cents to the [illegible] if [illegible] willingly if they will but [illegible] if necessary.

North Carolina Legislature.

Resolutions have been introduced in the North Carolina Legislature opposing the suspension of the writ of habeas corpus, impressment and conscription, the surrender of State officers, and in support of State negotiations for peace.

Mr. Carlton, in a marked speech on the suspender of the writ of habeas corpus, said that if the gentlemen in that Legislature and in Congress could not protest against an utter illegal suspension of this privilege, the same had come, when, by the laws of nature, he would be justified in starting a new revolution.

A majority of the North Carolina Legislature on the resolution to initiate resolutions for an honorable peace report that, while every effort is being made to heighten our armies, they should be accompanied by some manifestation on their part to secure an honorable peace. Commissioners having have before been refused by the Government, this objection is sought to be removed in the resolutions by appointing commissioners on the part of the States, whose civil existence has never been denied. These commissioners are not to have powers from the States, but only to be tendered by the President for a peace conference.

Bragg becomes Hopeful and Prayerful.

New York, Jan. 8.—The Washington Chronicle says that Bragg has written a letter breathing a spirit of Christian hope. He says: There is no cause for alarm. There is no enemy between Wilmington and Fort Fisher, and with the present force he will be able to resist any further attempt on Wilmington, and closes by asking the prayers of Christians for himself and the army he commands.

Army of the James.

Letters from the Army of the James, dated Friday, say: All is quiet in the Department. A severe rain storm prevailed all day, making the roads almost impassible.

The Times' correspondent says: The investigation of the mine explosion before Petersburg has closed, and the verdict will show a divided responsibility, falling upon Burnside and the General who led the assault. Nor does Gen. Grant hold himself entirely blameless, especially in permitting the selection of the officer who led the assault to be made by lot.

The Tribune's Army of the James correspondence, of the 3d, says: Mr. Pollard of the Richmond Examiner, captured some eight months since, has gone to Richmond to seek to exchange himself for Mr. Richardson, the correspondent of the Tribune captured 15 months since.

Hood's Army.

CINCINNATI, Jan. 9.—The Gazette's correspondent estimates that Hood's effective force in Tennessee from 22,000 to 25,000 men. Hood abandoned about 500 wagons on the north side of Duck river, with about 500 men, in charge of them. Schofield, with about 30,000 men, is through capturing a large number of prisoners, and cavalry. He crossed the Tennessee river at Decatur, below Tuscumbia, and took up the line of railroad on his way to join Thomas at Nashville.

Movements towards Charleston.

New York, Jan. 8.—Rebel papers furnish the following:

Augusta, Jan. 5.—Kilpatrick has crossed the Altamaha, but is supposed to be on the Savannah side of the Savannah river.

Charleston, Jan. 5.—Six further columns of the enemy's cavalry are reported to have crossed the Ogeechee river. His forces are still concentrating between Louisville and the Savannah river.

New York, Jan. 8.—The Tribune's special says: It is rumored that Gen. Sherman has communicated to the President that the Georgia State authorities have applied to some one in the Union army, and that Secretary Stanton has been [illegible] in connection with the subject.

Washington, Jan. 8.—The report of Sherman having crossed the river [illegible] is believed to be [illegible].

Rebels in Kentucky.

LOUISVILLE, Jan. 7.—Taylor's rebel forces descended Hazel creek, Kentucky, [illegible] scurrying out [illegible] and firing upon steamers when they left.

The New Albany, building, Leader says generally has [illegible] possession of Owensboro. Hawesville, Cloverport and Ambersville, Kentucky. The Lebanon (Kentucky) Gazette says [illegible] Lebanon [illegible] morning. The prisoners were released and [illegible]. The rebels [illegible] murdered four citizens of the Fourth Kentucky regiment [illegible] for [illegible] the [illegible] and the cursing [illegible] avoid concentration.

Miscellaneous.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—[illegible] is pending in the House [illegible] the reconstruction of the [illegible] of which have been [illegible] the rebellion [illegible] and [illegible] them.

AN IMPORTANT SUIT DECIDED.—Yesterday the suit involving the title to valuable property in this city, situated on what is known as the Terrace block on First and Second streets between Stark and Washington street was decided in the United States Circuit Court by a verdict rendered by the jury in favor of J Hull Hallum against the present occupants of the premises John T Hall was at that time now in command of a fine clipper ship bound from this port to Australia In 1859 he was here and on his based the block in question No. 35 of D H Lownsdale In the recent search no legal title to the ground in question could be found in the records of Multnomah county, and the true secret to have been the error in the original survey of the town, which will doubtless carry the case up to the highest courts before surrendering possession. The case was commenced in the fall of 1863 by W W Page, but in part of plaintiff and has attracted much interest in its progress

THE INCOME TAX FOR 1864.—As we hear much talk, and much difficulty about the true amount of income liable to taxation, we will state for the benefit of every one how that the Assessor is instructed to do. Every one is required to make out their account for the past year and make up their statements which everything is fresh in the memory, and every citizen of and transient of every kind of business is required to be prepared ready for the United States Assessor when he shall call during the month of May. We understand from the Assessor that he will exact a reliable statement from every one of their receipts from different sources, and a correct account of expenditure connected with each kind of business. This account of this kind will enable the Assessor to determine the income of each person as required by the rulings of the Commissioner. The following is the per centage on the whole for the year 1864

Income exceeding $ 600 and not exceeding $ 1,000 ... 5 per cent
Income exceeding $ 1,000 and not exceeding $ 5,000 ... 10
Income exceeding $ 5,000 and not exceeding $ 10,000 ... 15
Income exceeding $ 10,000 ... 10

We have many times been asked to guess on the basis of guessing the amount of their income. This manner of returning income the Assessor informs us is played out, and unless part of each will be required to make out a detailed statement of their business he will take the liberty to guess for Uncle Sam and it is certain that he will guess enough.

A BEAVER FAMILY.—At the store corner of Fourth and Washington streets in this city a family of the Beaver species have been kept in the cellar which is full of water for some time past. Originally there were three of these amphibious quadrupeds in their new habitation but lately two of them have disappeared. The remaining one has become quite familiar with the proprietor of the establishment, and daily makes its appearance for food no doubt appreciating the fostering protection of the chosen ward. The Beaver is remarkable for its ingenuity and secretiveness in the construction and selection of its lodges but in this case displays a singularity of rare occurrence.

A SUGGESTION.—Our business leads us up Front street every day, and we would prefer to meet a dozen teams on the sidewalk, every time we pass south of the foot of Salmon street, than to witness the straining, struggles, and narrow escapes from broken legs, of the teams on that street and out of sympathy we suggest that the street be fenced in and the walks thrown open to travel. Bates & Stimson will furnish all lumber necessary for the purpose, at half price, and we presume nails can be got cheap. Mr. Thompson the generous block smith, near Main street, would manufacture a few if called upon.

SOLD OUT.—The photograph gallery on Front street which has been conducted for a long term of years by Messrs Buchtel & Cardwell has changed into the proprietorship of other parties. The collection of rare specimens of birds animals, reptiles, etc., which forms an attractive cabinet of curiosities in natural history has made this the finest resort in the State, and the name of the old firm have been synonymous on the part of naming and preserving the relics which have been entrusted or donated to them.

FRONT STREET A DETESTABLE HOLE.—We have many times referred to the abominable holes on Front street in this city, and yet with the Street Commissioner and Common Council there is not the least notion for regard or improvement. Unless the streets can be made safe something near a passable condition, the sooner they are fenced up the better it will be for the traveling community. A pretty state of things isn't it?

RICH FURS.—By reference to the advertisement of Mr A B Richardson, Auctioneer, it will be seen that one of the finest assortments of ladies furs, robes, etc ever offered for sale in this city will be put up for bids at auction to morrow at Harker's new building on Front street between the What Cheer and Columbian Hotels. The invoice comes direct from New York, and comprises a really valuable lot which, upon the representation of Mr Richardson, will be warranted free from damage. The goods will be ready for inspection to-day at noon.

SEEING THE CITY FOR A DEAD HORSE.—There is a rumor current that the owner of a valuable horse killed on Front street from the effects of injuries received from the bad condition of that street [illegible] intends suing the city for damages. The case would be a clear one. We can bury dead dogs, why not pay for dead horses especially when we kill 'em? The tax payers don't want the streets improved.

COMPLIMENTARY BENEFIT.—The compliment of a grand benefit has been tendered to Mrs Hayne by our citizens previous to her final departure and it will take place at Willamette Theatre this evening. On this occasion Mrs Hayne will appear in the male character of Romeo in the tragedy of Romeo and Juliet," and in "The Follies of a Night" will assume the popular comedy character of Le chevalier de Chatelain.

THE OYSTER SUPPER.—The festival and supper to be given by the ladies and congregation of the M E Church in this city, this evening, will afford recreation and amusement for as many as feel disposed to attend. There will be vocal and instrumental music a joyous reunion and an excellent oyster supper all for one dollar.

IS THE COWLITZ NAVIGABLE?—This question has been determined in the affirmative and finally settled as Captain Tinker made a moonlight excursion up that river one night last week. The steamer Carrie was used in the ascent and accomplished the purpose it being her usual trip and a necessity in consequence of delays.

THE PUBLIC SCHOOL.—Mr I Bedell Principal of the Public School in this city, has furnished us with a report of the number of scholars in attendance for the quarter ending January 6th 1865. The whole number enrolled including all the Departments is 443. The average attendance for the quarter was 231.

FINE WEATHER.—The weather was very fine yesterday and Sunday. Under the influence of the shining rays of Sol, and the sharp winds of the two days our street crossing has become quite passable. We feel for sighing, countenance and polished boots until the next mud fall.

CHRISTIAN COMMISSION.—The ladies of the Christian Commission will meet in the vestry of the Presbyterian church at 2 o'clock P M to day. A general invitation is extended to all who feel interested in the cause.

WE INVITE the Common Council to meet at the corner of Salmon and Front streets on Thursday evening at 7 o'clock. The Street Commissioner should also be present. And all up that hole.

MR BARRETT.—It is just stated that he has made no charges against Mr Hall, and has commenced no prosecution against him.

LETTER FROM C G BAYLOR TO GOV BROWN (OF THE ROA—PLANS OF SOUTHERN LEADERS.—Mr C G Baylor who has been for some time acting as Washington and elsewhere as a Southern peace missionary and who was recently denounced as an impostor by Gov Brown of Georgia, published the following letter

[illegible]

The New York Times closes an article with the following language —

What a spectacle it is for men and angels that within less than two weeks from the day when the Chicago Democracy declared it for the war for the maintenance of the authority of the National Government had proved a failure, the foremost conspirator against the Government should stand up to confess that two thirds of his military supporters had deserted him, and that he had been wrested on the women and children of the revolting States! Surely never before did Nemesis travel with such avenging speed since human government was devised and political cowardice and treachery came to fill up a portion of the record of a nation.

STOMACH BITTERS.

THE OPERATION OF THIS PALATABLE REMEDY upon the stomach liver and excretory organs is singularly soothing and conservative. It regulates, restrains and purifies them. Dyspepsia in all its forms yields to its control and invigorating properties.

Invigorate the System.

Vigorous digestion and pure bile produce nutritious blood and nutritious blood a healthy frame. Does the victim of a dyspeptic stomach and a disordered liver desire to know how the digestion may be improved, the bile and other fluids of the body purified?

Dr. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters

Will accomplish this desirable revolution in the system, regulating the secretions and excretions giving tone to the animal juices which dissolve the food, strengthen every relaxed nerve muscle and fibre and brings the whole machinery of vitality into vigorous and healthful play.

Strengthen the System.

The best means of imparting vigor to the broken-down frame and shattered constitution which has yet been incurred or discovered is proffered to the feeble of both sexes and all ages in

Dr. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters.

Debility, from whatever cause arising, may be cured, strength in whatever manner it may have been wasted, may be restored by the use of this powerful and healthy invigorant. For indigestion and all its painful effects, bodily and mental they are a positive specific

"Boys, Keep your Eyes on that Flag."*

Keep your eyes on that Flag, boys; its azure—
True blue as the color of Heaven;
Each star on its field is a treasure
By Freedom from tyranny riven.
'Tis red with the blood of God's heroes,
Who bled for the weal of God's men;
The white with God's justice to cheer us—
Keep your eyes on it, boys, to defend.

Keep your eyes on that Flag—'tis of Freemen,
The birth and the cradle of slaves;
The darling of soldiers and seamen,
The dread of the traitor and knaves;
Know ye not the baleful wreath flashing
Afar, like light over the earth,
Is the symbol of Liberty's clashing
With the right to be despot by birth.

Keep your eyes on that Flag, boys, in battle,
As it bravely gleams through the gloom;
What seeks it of mankind's rattle,
It flaunts at the rebel his doom.
Charge! charge, boys! the foeman is flying;
A curse on the cowards who fail;
What matter though wounded or dying,
Still, boys, keep your eyes on the Flag.

Keep your eyes on that Flag, there is glory
To gain where it marshals the van;
There are names to be won for the story
Of Liberty's triumph in man.
Shall Liberty triumph? Then rally!
And dash to the front with the brave
As Sheridan swept up the Valley,
With your eyes on the Flag, boys, to save.

Keep your eyes on that Flag—neath its waving
Soon traitors shall smite to their doom
No man fellow-mankind enslaving,
For Peace sweetly smiles through the gloom.
When War's dread alarms are all ended,
With children and wife by your side,
As you cling to the homes you've defended,
Keep your eyes on the Flag, boys, in pride.

—Philadelphia Press.

*The last words of General Birney.

SHOCKING DETAILS OF REBEL BARBARITY.—Humanity shudders at such a record as that below. Still the details of the treatment which resulted in such mortality, bring home the fearful scenes far more closely. A correspondent of the Herald describing the appearance of the released men when they came on board our transports thus describes them:

I never in my life conceived of such scenes of misery as some of our poor fellows presented. They suffered from scurvy mostly; but I was told that others, worse off than those we received, were left behind because of the impossibility of transporting them in safety. Yet they were joyous beyond description as they came once more beneath the folds of the old flag. On the passage down the Savannah river to Venus Point—the designation of the spot where the exchange is in progress—they were permitted to make no demonstrations of joy. Cheering, shouting and singing were prohibited by the rebel guards, who threatened to fire into the crowd if the stringent rules were violated. But when the vessels were lashed together the air was filled with jubilant shouts, and poor, emaciated sufferers, resting in the strong arms of our nurses, mingled their feeble notes of gladness with the lusty tones of the hale and hearty as they were borne across the gang planks to the decks of the Union craft.

Our men were ragged beyond description. Some of them had nothing on them but pantaloons, and I noticed one pair of unexpressibles the legs of which reached only part way to the ankles of the wearer. Others had their limbs bound up with strips of blankets, in place of any other covering. Still others, whose garments had by great care been kept together, were covered with vermin, which rattled from them like sand. The sick who were unable to help themselves at all, were certainly the most pitiable objects I ever beheld. They were covered with gangrenous, fungous sores, harbors for worms and maggots to crawl and wriggle in. They were doubled up as if in a permanent cramp. Some of them had their lips eaten away by their loathsome disease, and were unable to even pronounce their names. They were washed and shaved, and furnished with good clothes; and then having been placed upon clean cots, were fed with biscuits, coffee and a little milk punch.

One of them, so distorted by scurvy that his knees and his chin touched each other, exclaimed with great good humor as he was brought in, "I am your man for half a mattress; you can find another like me and save a little room." Another was lifted so that the fragrant cup might reach his lips, broke out: "How are you, Java? You put me in mind of how I love a Georgian." Still another, recognizing an old friend across the cabin, cried out: "I say, Jim, what d'yo think when yo saw the old flag?" "I didn't think, I only hollered," was the response. And another, answering the same question, said, in his weak and quiet voice, "I thought I was in Paradise, and couldn't say a word."

The terms of imprisonment which these men had suffered varied from four months to twenty. In all that time they had not tasted, seen nor smelt the odor of coffee. Such a thing as a lucifer matchhad almost escaped their memory, and as the doctor struck one to light his cigar he was beset by fifty voices begging one just as a keepsake. The tempers of many of our men, as well as their physical frames, were worn out; and after getting a taste of biscuit and coffee some of them cried for more, as babies cry for breast milk; and yet they had not in any three days of their imprisonment eaten so much as they had just devoured.

The stockade or pen in which the prisoners at Andersonville have been confined is described by the exchanged men as an enclosure of 14 acres, 5 of which were a morass. Here the men were without shelter, and in many instances almost naked, huddled together without room for exercise. During the hot summer months there were scattered about in this pen an average of at least 25,000 prisoners, who were suffering from disease in almost every form incident to man in a climate to which he is unaccustomed. Five acres of the surface of the ground was covered by human excrement, exhaling a morbific influence which would be fatal even to the rice plantation laborer, accustomed from infancy to breathing the malarious atmosphere of his native savannahs. Constantly drenched by rains, receiving bad food, always poorly prepared and often raw, in many instances naked and laboring under a mental depression verging upon melancholy, feeling that their days were numbered, the prisoners were kept in their dreadful prison. Under these circumstances the mortality became frightful, and as a matter of defence from an epidemic, the rebel authorities were compelled to thin out the shambles early in September, by sending several thousand of the prisoners to a new stockade established at Savannah, where their sufferings were considerably alleviated. Subsequently these men on the breaking out of the yellow fever at Savannah were removed to another prison pen at Millen. Before the change from Andersonville was made eleven thousand victims had been buried, pacoffined, in the shallow trenches near the prison.

THE EXPANSION OF THE LUNGS.—Wholesome advice is contained in the appended, from some unknown source: "Step out into the purest air you can find, stand perfectly erect, with the head and shoulders back, and then fixing the lips as though you were going to whistle, draw the air, not through the nostrils, but through the lips, into the lungs. When the chest is about full, raise the arms, keeping them extended, with the palms of the hands down, as you suck in the air, so as to bring them over the head just as the lungs are quite full. Then drop the thumbs inward, and after gently forcing the arms backward, and the chest open, reverse the process by which you draw your breath, till the lungs are entirely empty. This process should be repeated three or four times during the day. It is impossible to describe to one who has never tried it the glorious sense of vigor which follows the exercise. It is the best expectorant in the world. We know a gentleman the measure of whose chest has been increased some three inches during as many months."

A traveling tinker was one day expatiating rather largely in the bar-room of a country tavern upon his skill in supplying all kinds of damaged drinking-vessels with handles, warranting to make them far more durable and ornamental than the original appendages; when he was suddenly accompanied by a war-beaten old soldier, who, poking his scarred and noseless physiognomy over the counter, blandly inquired: "What would it cost to put a new handle on my mug?"

A FASHIONABLE CALL.—Enter Miss Lucy, nearly out of breath with the exertion of walking from her papa's carriage in the street to the door at her friend.

Lucy—O, Maria, how do you do? How delighted I am to see you. How have you been since you were at the ball last Thursday evening? Wasn't the appearance of that tall girl in pink perfectly frightful? Is this your shawl on the piano? Beautiful shawl! Father says he is going to send to Paris to get me a shawl in the spring. I can't bear home-made shawls. How do you like Monsieur Esprey? Beautiful man, isn't he? Now don't laugh, Marie, for I am sure I don't care any thing about him! Oh, my! I must be going. It's a beautiful day, isn't it? Marie, when are you coming up to see me? Oh, dear! what a beautiful pin? That pin was given to you; now I know it was, Marie, don't deny it. Harry is coming up to see me this evening, but I hate him—I do really; but he has a beautiful moustache, hasn't he, Marie? Oh, dear it's very warm. Good morning Marie! Don't speak of Harry in connection with my name to any one, for I am sure it will never amount to anything, but I hate him awfully—I'm sure I do. Adieu.

A lady who sings in the choir of a certain church, having been laughed at for marrying a very small man, remarked that she had always found short meter hymns the easiest to get along with.

LAWS OF OREGON.

Acts passed at the Third Regular Session of the Legislative Assembly.

AN ACT to provide for the recovery of the possession of real property in cases of forcible entry and detainer, and to prescribe the notice to quit in case of tenant holding over, or without a written lease or agreement.

Be it enacted by the Legislative Assembly of the State of Oregon, as follows:

Section 1. No person shall enter upon any land, tenement, or other real property, but in cases where entry is given by law, and in such cases the entry shall not be made by force, but only in a peaceable manner.

Sec. 2. When a forcible entry shall be made upon any premises, or when an entry shall be made in a peaceable manner, and the possession shall be held by force, the person entitled to the possession of the premises, may maintain an action to recover the possession thereof.

Sec. 3. In such action, it shall be sufficient to state in the complaint, a description of the premises with convenient certainty, that the defendant is in the possession thereof, that he entered upon the same with force, or unlawfully holds the same with force, as the case may be, and that the plaintiff is entitled to the possession thereof.

Sec. 4. The following shall be deemed cases of unlawful holding by force, within the meaning of this act: 1. When the tenant or person in possession of any premises, shall fail or refuse to pay any rent due on the lease or agreement under which he holds, or deliver up the possession of such premises, for ten days after demand made in writing for such possession; 2. When after notice to quit, as provided in this act, any person shall continue in the possession of any premises after the expiration of the time limited in the lease or agreement under which such person holds, or contrary to any condition or covenant thereof, or without any written lease or agreement therefor.

Sec. 5. A notice to quit must be in writing, and must be served upon the tenant or person in possession, by being delivered to him, or left at the premises in case of his absence therefrom.

Sec. 6. An action for the recovery of the possession of the premises, may be maintained in the case specified in subdivision 3, of section 4, when the notice to quit has been served upon the tenant or person in possession for the period of ten days before the commencement thereof, unless the leasing or occupation is for the purpose of farming or agriculture, in which case such notice must be served for the period of ninety days before the commencement of such action.

Sec. 7. The service of a notice to quit upon the tenant or person in possession, does not authorize an action to be maintained against him for the possession of the premises, before the expiration of any period for which such tenant or person may have paid the rent of such premises in advance.

Sec. 8. When the leasing or occupation is for the purpose of farming or agriculture, the tenant or person in possession shall, after the termination of such lease or occupancy, have free access to the premises to cultivate and harvest or gather any crop or produce of the soil planted or sown by him before the service of notice to quit.

Sec. 9. In addition to recover the possession of real property as provided for in Title IV, of Chapter IV, of the Code of Civil Procedure, notice to quit when necessary may be given, as prescribed in this act; and nothing in this act shall be construed so as to prevent such action being maintained for the recovery of the possession of real property, although the entry of the defendant be forcible or his holding unlawful and with force.

LUNG BALSAM!

The Remedy for Curing

CONSUMPTION, COUGHS, COLDS,

Asthma, Croup,

Diseases of the Throat, Bronchitis, Pains and Oppression of the Chest and Lungs, Difficult Breathing and all the Diseases of the Pulmonary Organs.

ITS ACTION IS EXPECTORANT, ALTERATIVE, SUDORIFIC, SEDATIVE, DIAPHORETIC AND DIURETIC, which renders it one of the most valuable remedies known for curing disease of the lungs. It excites expectoration, and thaws the lungs to throw off the phlegm or mucus; CHANGES THE SECRETIONS AND PURIFIES THE BLOOD; heals the irritated parts; gives strength to the digestive organs; brings the blood to its proper action, and imparts strength to the whole system. Such is the immediate and satisfactory effect, that it is WARRANTED TO BREAK UP THE MOST DISTRESSING COUGH IN A FEW HOURS' TIME, if not of too long standing. IT IS WARRANTED to give direct satisfaction even in the MOST CONFIRMED CASES OF CONSUMPTION! IT IS WARRANTED NOT to produce costiveness (which is the case with most remedies for affect the head, as it contains no opium in any form. IT IS WARRANTED TO BE PERFECTLY HARMLESS to the most delicate child, although it is an active and powerful remedy for restoring the system. THERE IS NO REAL NECESSITY FOR SO MANY DEATHS BY CONSUMPTION, when ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM will relieve it, if only taken in time.
